

≡ MAKE ROADS SAFE

Declaration of Support

We recognize that road traffic injuries constitute an unrecognized public health epidemic that kills 1.2 million people worldwide per year and injures another 50 million – and that it especially affects the poorest and most vulnerable among us.

We acknowledge that by making roads safe, we will help our neighbors at home and around the world to improve their health, to increase their mobility, to raise their economic situations, and to better their lives overall.

We support the aims of the Make Roads Safe campaign to make road safety a global priority by putting road traffic injury prevention on the G8 and United Nations sustainability agendas.

We will participate in the first UN Road Safety Week, April 23-29, 2007, to highlight our own traffic safety activities at home as well as to encourage efforts to support the prevention of road traffic injuries worldwide.

We commit to raising public and political awareness about global road traffic injuries because the deaths of more than 3000 people, including 500 children, every day, are preventable if we join together to Make Roads Safe.
